Sponsored by ACM SIGMOBILE

Student Travel Grants

The conference will provide travel support to selected graduate students, including a limited number of students from international institutions, to attend this conference. Each award will help cover the costs related to student's travel, lodging, meals, and conference registration fee. The travel support is made possible by grants from the US National Science Foundation and industrial sponsors.

Applications

Applications for the travel award should be received electronically in PDF format by Dr. Edward Knightly (knightly@rice.edu) by April 1, 2009. Please make sure that you receive an email confirmation of your submission. An application will consist of the student's CV, a letter from the student, and a letter from the student's advisor. The letter from the student should include:

1. A brief summary of research interests and accomplishments to date
2. A description of areas reflected in the MobiHoc 2009 program that would impact the student's research
3. Importance of attending the conference to the student's research activities

In addition, the student's advisor should send a letter of recommendation to the committee. It should include:

1. Confirmation that the student is a Ph.D. candidate in good standing
2. The suitability of MobiHoc 2009 program to the students research area
3. Ways in which attending the conference would benefit the particular student
4. The strengths and potential contributions of the student

Applications will be reviewed by committee, and the awards will be announced April 7, 2009. Alternates will be notified in the event that a recipient declines.
